

ROYAL MARINES IN THE COMPLEMENT OF H M S HOWE shown marching along the dockside soon after the British battleship had berthed in Sydney on a recent visit. As well as carrying out shipboard duties, marines are trained for jungle warfare to enable them to undertake landing operations, special amphibious tasks, and defence of Fleet Air Arm bases if necessary.